

Sermon Title:* A PSALM FOR THANKSGIVING

Date: November 24, 2024 - Psalm 100

Central Idea: There is always a reason to be joyful and thankful in worshipping the Lord. Do you worship the Lord with joy and thanksgiving?

Introduction:

Why might you give God thanks today? Does joy mark the attitude and tone of your worship? Is joyful worship a regular rhythm in your life? Perhaps there are days or seasons when life leaves you feeling like there is nothing good happening, nothing that has you feeling thankful—much less joyful. But Psalm 100 reminds us that we always have reason to worship with joy and thanksgiving.

I. Thank God for His Relationship to His People.

- 1. A call to praise, vv. 1-2
- 2. The content of praise, v. 3

II. Thank God for His Revelation of His Character.

- 1. A call to praise, v. 4
- 2. The content of praise, v. 5

Conclusion:

With Psalm 100 as a model, why not make this Thanksgiving a time for genuine expression of joyful gratitude to God? Thank Him for the persons, provisions, institutions, and groups that bless you. Do it this week daily and with urgency. Do it in God's house and in your house!
